

eat & drink

fashion

beauty

health

house & home

services & stuff

special events

home

toronto

MTL VAN

search this site:

s.w.e.e.t.s.p.o.t.ca

sign up now to receive your daily Sweet Nothing and in seconds you'll be up to the minute. Sweet.

11-30-05 Oven, Schmoven!

Why send a thank-you card in the mail, when you can send a dozen deliciously sweet short-bread cookies instead?

But hold the spatula Sara Lee, cause here's the best part: You don't have to bake a thing - all thanks to flourgirls. Specializing in a delicious variety of custom- shaped baked goodies, just place your order online, and flourgirls will deliver it to your taste buds door.

They have fun designs for any occasion (now is a good time to ask about their holiday selection). Top the party (not to mention your popularity) with duck shaped cookies for your niece's birthday. We love their diamond ring shaped cookies for a bridal shower theme. And their new baby sets are so adorable, you won't want to eat them (well, almost).

Using only pure, real ingredients (think 'home-baked goodness) all of the flourgirls treats taste as heavenly as they look! What's more, they'll even wrap your goods in chic cellophane, sealed with a precious bow. The delectable delights can then be shipped nationwide (cookies only though! We hate to see what mailing a cake would do. . .)

Finally, home-baked cooking without the well, home-baked part!

Flourgirls Cookies

www.flourgirls.com

Back to eat & drink